

ABSTRACT

This research aims at studying the current contexts of the text in the view of fundamentalists. These contexts play a big role in receiving the proper text for the purpose of identifying the whole meaning.

This study consists of an introduction and two purposes.

The introduction is assigned to describe the importance of current contexts as may be indicated by the statements of fundamentalists.

The first purpose of the definition is known as "the context and the state as the speech has been given".

But as regards the second purpose, we have shown the kinds of the current contexts in the fundamentalists' view and their effects on the text significancies and explanations.